THE early immigrant to California by the southern route will romember the grateful spectacle of the palm tree grove at the mouth of Cahinlla Creek, a distance of thirty or forty miles east of Warner's ranch, on the border of the desert. To the Indians it was known as the "Spring of a Thousand Palms," and there they resorted to feed upon the tender shoots and drink of the grateful waters of the spring, so rare a blessing in that region, and which the thirsty immigrant also hailed with a thrill of deight. The San Diego (Cal.) Union says that in the vicinity of this grove are to be found numberous springs of various kinds of mineral water; also, hot mineral springs. The adjacent hills are of a clay formation, covered, as is also the lowland of the desert, with musquit trees. The line of survey taken by the engincers of the Texas Pacific Railway via San Gorgonio Pass, has been run within about three miles of this interesting about three miles of this interesting LAGRUE'S RESTAURANT other springs that take their names from palm groves, one being called the Spring of the Three Palms," and the other "Dos Palmos." The water of the latter spring is brackish, being in that portion of the desert which is below the

When the announcement was made that the Western Union Telegraph Company had reduced their rates about fifty per cent. to all parts of the country, we in common with most everybody else, were made to rejoice at the pleasant intelligence. So far as this place is concerned, however, we fail to see that we have been benefitted in the least. The people of Pioche who transact nearly all their business with San Francisco, are still paying the old rates and are therefore not conscious that any change has ben made. What has Pioche done that it should thus be discriminated against.

THE London Times, in a late number, calls upon the writers, thinkers and reformers of England to do something to siem the tide of drunkenness which is overwhelming the kingdom and undermining all ranks of society. It states that this vice prevails to a fearful extent among rich and poor, men and women, young and old, and that it is frightfully on the increase. A prize of two hundred and fifty guineas is offered by an adverissment in the public journals for the est essay on the following subject: "The Temperance Reformation - Its Claims upon the Christian Church."
